

SLAVERY AND HUMAN TRAFFICKING STATEMENT

Modern slavery is a crime and a gross violation of fundamental human rights. It takes various forms, all of which have in common the deprivation of a person's liberty by another in order to exploit them for personal or commercial gain.

We have a zero-tolerance approach to modern slavery and are fully committed to preventing slavery and human trafficking in our corporate activities. We are also committed to ensuring there is transparency in our own business and in our approach to tackling modern slavery throughout our supply chains, consistent with our disclosure obligations under the Modern Slavery Act 2015. We all have a responsibility to be alert to the risks, however small, in our business and in the wider supply chain.

This statement sets out Kingston Smith's actions to understand all potential modern slavery risks related to business and to ensure steps are maintained to prevent slavery and human trafficking.

The relationship with our clients and consultants have been developed over a number of years and is built upon mutually beneficial factors, where we have close, personal links and contact with the business decision makers.

When we have new clients introduced to the company we pre-qualify them through a diligence process, relating to company location, size, HS&E compliance in addition to taking references from other sources to establish that they are suitable and comply with our standards.

To date we have not been made aware of any human trafficking / slavery activities within the supply chain but if any were highlighted to us then we would act immediately in accordance with our legal and moral obligations.
